The HATCHET

BEING - - - THE
WASHINGTON
UNIVERSITY
YEAR BOOK
VOLUME NINETEEN

PUBLISHED BY THE
CLASS of 1922
SAINT LOUIS 1921

CARROLL SMITH

Foreword

The dedication of this volume is contained on another page. In a sense, there is a dedication not mentioned there, nor anywhere in lines in this volume. It is to the entire student body whose names and whose likenesses appear somewhere between these covers. This is the real character of this annual presentation. It is for us who are honored in this way to give as well as to receive, whether by written word, or by secret pledge or resolution, or by unvaunted action, we can devote ourselves to one of the greatest of all services—to our University. This is indeed no narrow purpose; for by this token we endow it with power, we raise it in esteem, and we serve all that it serves now and through the ages.

J. Lippincott

To
Isaac Lippincott, Ph.D.,
President of the Washington Union, this Nineteenth Volume of
THE HATCHET
is respectfully dedicated in recognition of his inestimable service towards bringing into a closer bond
the Student Body and the Alumni, and in appreciation of his untiring effort to further those College activities which make our University
a living entity.

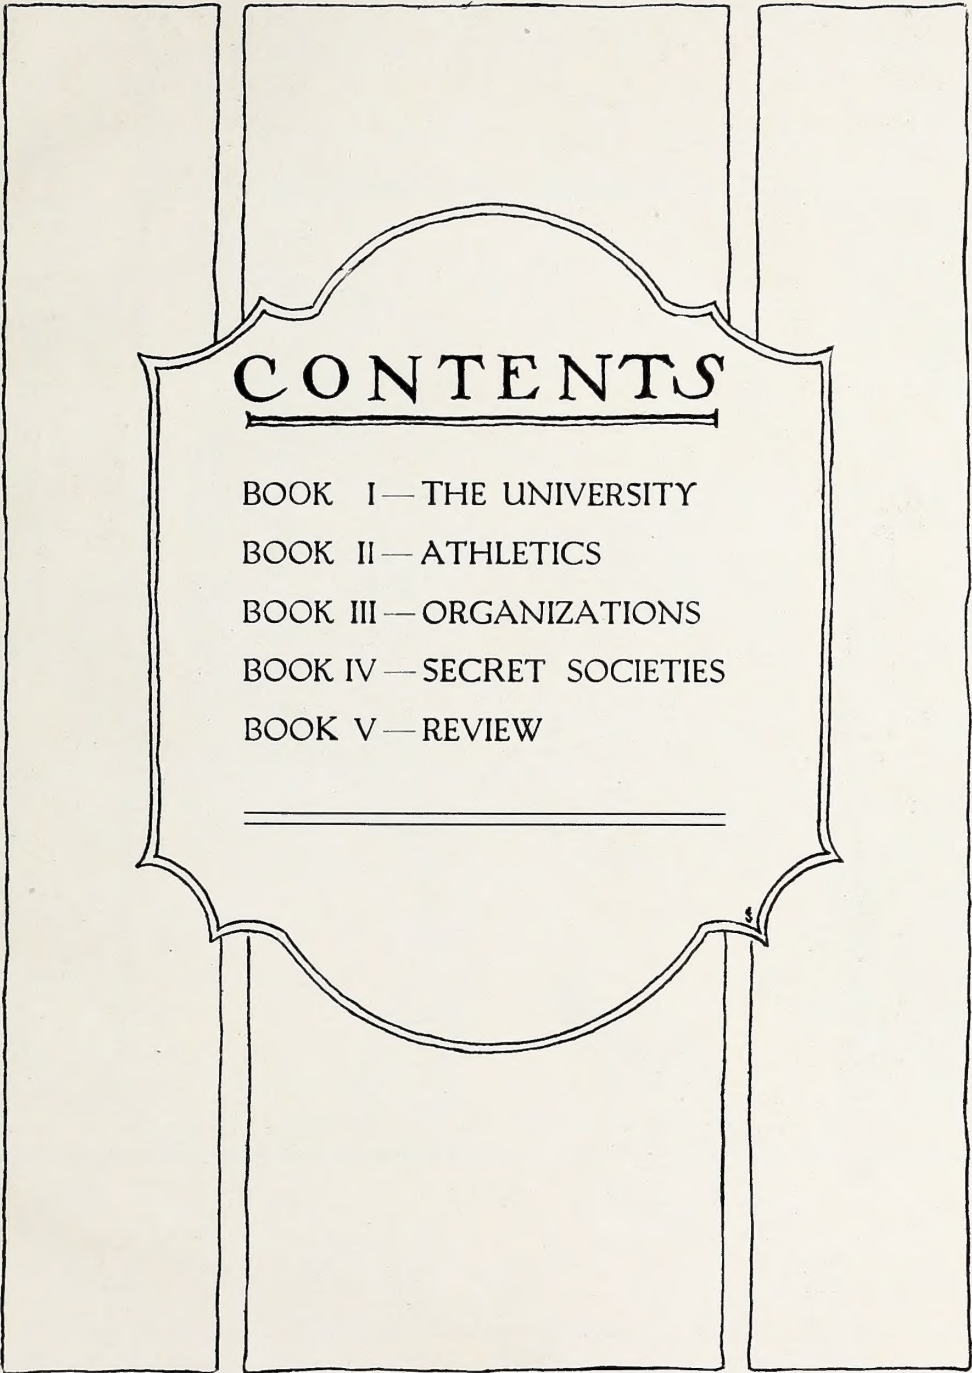

ALMA MATER

Dear Alma Mater,
Thy name is sweet to me,
Our hearts are all for thee,
Fair Washington;
Thy halls shall honored be
Throughout this great country
For all eternity,
Our Washington.

Those days of youth which
All of us spent with thee
Form a dear history,
Fair Washington;
Could they renewed be,
We'd live our days with thee,
For all eternity,
Our Washington.

*"Here let us breathe and haply institute
A course of learning and ingenious studies."*

—SHAKESPEARE.

*"The Wraiths of ancient pomp and glittering days
Set here by master minds and master souls
Almost as wonderful as mountains are,
Mysterious as the petals of the flower."*

—ANON.

*"All is so quiet; the troubled breast,
The wounded spirit, the heart oppressed,
Here may find the repose it craves.
Here would I stay, and let the world
With its distant thunder roar and roll."*

—LONGFELLOW.

*"Nothing the greatest artist can conceive
That every marble block does not confine within itself,
And only its design, the hand that follows intellect can achieve."*

—MAECHELANGELO

*"Each door and arch bears its own tale,
A tale to be told down the ages as long as stone,
and marble shall withstand the strength of time."*

—ANON.

*"Still o'er these scenes my memory wakes,
And fondly broods with miser care;
Time but the impression deeper makes,
As streams their channels deeper wear."*

—BURNS.

The year 1921 will see the completion of the main quadrangle, made possible through the gift of Mrs. Vale January of a home for the School of Law, the building to be erected as a memorial to her mother, Mrs. Grace Vale January, who died in March, 1919. The school will stand to the south of Ridgley Library, its eastern end projecting forward into the quadrangle. The memorial character of the building will be emphasized in the main reading room, designed in the style of the great halls of the Tudor period in England. Not only is the gift of the building for the School of Law a great event for the school, but its construction, together with the School of Commerce and Finance, completing the first quadrangle, is a great step forward in the physical development of the University.

The Commerce and Finance Building

THE construction of the Charles Henry Duncker, Jr., Hall of Commerce and Finance will begin in the early summer, according to the statements given out by the architects, Messers. Cann and Corrubia. Both of the architects are graduates of the University's School of Architecture. This building, which will be a magnificent addition to our campus, is the donation of the parents and widow of Capt. Charles H. Duncker, Jr. Capt. Duncker, who was a member of the class of '14, was killed in action while with the 340th Field Artillery in France, October 17, 1918.

The Duncker Memorial will cost approximately $250,000, and will be in English Collegiate Gothic style, of two stories and basement, 35 by 188 feet, and constructed of Missouri pink granite and Bedford limestone, as are the present buildings. It is to fill the northwest corner of the Quadrangle, connecting the Library and Cupples I. The main vestibule is to be of marble and the ceiling of oak, carved in English style; the main stairway of marble with bronze railings. The main entrance will be on the north side of the building. At the east end of the building underneath a large Oriel window and facing the Quadrangle, will be a memorial tablet of rich Gothic carving, suitably inscribed. This beautiful building will be a source of pride to the students of the University as well as a monument of inspiration for one of our number who made the "supreme sacrifice" for God and his fellow men.

THE Henry Shaw School of Botany was established as a part of Washington University in 1885 as a result of the generosity of Mr. Henry Shaw of St. Louis. Mr. Shaw, in his will, devised to the University certain land on Second street in St. Louis, the income of which was to be used to establish and maintain a school of botany as an integral part of Washington University.

The will also required that the professor or professors of this school be either the Director of the Missouri Botanical Garden or the person next in rank, but if this was impractical the Trustees of the Garden were empowered to appoint a director with the consent of the corporation of the University; thus the School of Botany and the Missouri Botanical Garden are operated together.

Washington University was formally possessed of the land which made the School of Botany possible on October 14, 1885, when the deed was delivered and recorded, one dollar being the consideration given to Mr. Shaw for the property.

The corporation placed the new school in charge of a committee consisting of Mr. Henry Shaw, Hon. John Lightner, Dr. Asa Gray, distinguished botanist of Harvard University, and Dr. George Engelmann, one of the founders of the first Academy of Science in St. Louis. A professorship of botany was established and was named the Engelmann Professorship of Botany in honor of Dr. Engelmann, who had manifested much interest in the school.

Two teaching fellowships are annually offered by the School of Botany, it being the duty of the Teaching Fellows to give assistance to those pursuing undergraduate courses. The Rufus J. Lackland Fellowships, of which there are five, are awarded to graduates of accredited colleges who demonstrate especial fitness for botanical research.

Previous to 1911 the Shaw School of Botany granted eight Master's degrees and nine Doctor's degrees and since that date eighteen Master's degrees and twenty-one Doctor's degrees have been conferred. In addition there have been various graduate students from other universities who have attended the school for one year or less in order to take advantage of the exceptional opportunities offered.

Coaches

Coach Rider

Dr. George L. Rider, who came to Washington University in the fall of 1920 to fill the position of Football Coach, was tendered at that time a hearty and enthusiastic welcome by the Student Body and Faculty. He seemed to have won the full confidence and friendship so necessary for a successful leader and at once to have found and filled his much needed office in the University.

Under Dr. Rider's supervision Francis Gymnasium became the scene of the Mississippi Valley Prep School Basket Ball Tournament. The Mississippi Valley Track and Tennis Meets are to take place here also as well as the St. Louis and St. Louis County High School Track Meets. A Golf Team is to enter the tournament at Ames and training is now in progress for a Swimming Meet. Boxing and Wrestling have also been added to the list of sports under Dr. Rider's leadership.

It is to Coach Rider that we are indebted for a greater consciousness of Washington spirit. But the influence of Dr. Rider's personality extends beyond the sphere of athletics for it has already made itself felt throughout the whole University.

It would be quite impossible to find anywhere a man in whom is embodied a more virile personality than in Coach Matthew Brown. He is a man whose every movement and expression is a true portrayal of a singularly powerful masculine character. Coach Brown possesses a very keen football knowledge which was developed under the instruction of eastern coaches and he is well adapted to making fighters out of every man of the gridiron. His psychological treatment of the men was such as to infuse into them a spirit of strong offensive which was very effectively illustrated in our 1920 football team. Every man was in the games with the marked determination to win and although they were not always rewarded with success they played throughout with a spirit of victory. Mr. Brown also coached basketball and though our team won but three games out of eighteen, the efforts of the coach and the men were rewarded by marked individual development which will help much towards turning out a championship team next year.

Coach Brown

Coach Beck

Coach Shipton of the Freshman basketball team and Coach Gordon Beck of the Freshman football squad have been of very great service to the University in moulding future varsity men. The freshman athletes are the ones who in a year or two are to fill the gaps in the big Piker squad and the experience they have gotten under their coaches is very valuable in preparing them for service on the varsity teams.

In the 1920 season, Coach Beck employed such tricky tactics with his first year men that the varsity found scrimmage with them a rather difficult problem to solve. He developed several very capable men who should prove a great help to our 1921 football squad.

Coach Shipton, too, developed a very fast and brilliant basketball five which gained many victories over the local High Schools and who served invaluable towards giving the varsity quintet their needed scrimmage training.

Coach Billy Bascom is now starting his second year as Baseball Pilot for the Pikeaway Nine. He made his presence known last year by filling Coach Ralph Works' position, and landed the Missouri Valley Title.

That little short stocky frame that hides under the big sweater, has more pep per unit of mass, than any two ordinary Big League Coaches. During practice, he is ever jumping around shouting his own all meaning line of snappy and characteristic phrases, sending the runner around the sacks or putting somebody "on their toes."

He has won the admiration and support of everybody on the Hill, and has always had the team solidly behind him. His methods have been most successful, being thorough going and decisive and everyone is looking forward to another Valley Championship Squad this season.

Artie Eilers, instructor in the Physical Education Department and Business Manager of the Athletic Council, has accompanied the teams on every trip made in the past year.

When the basketball team was without a coach on the trip to Drake University and Grinnell College, Artie took complete charge and acquitted himself admirably. Together with "Frotz" Potthoff he is coaching the first swimming team Washington has had in a number of years. He handles the huge crowds that file into Francis Field and covers many miles in the "Keystone" Ford for the Athletic Department.

The Cheer Leaders

WHEN Cheer Leader Fred Pavey yelled, "Let's go, fellows, lots of the old pep," every Piker cut loose. Whether it was in the fall during the football season, or during the basketball season last winter Cheer Leader Pavey and his assistants, Bothman and Barksdale, always led the Piker rooters as past masters in the art of yelling and gyroscopic motion

And did the Pikers stick with them all the way? We'll say they did. Whether we were at the long end of the score or the short end of the score every loyal Washingtonian swallowed another throat disc and howled and roared some more. How about the Oklahoma game when everyone stayed in the stands and yelled through a cloudburst? What about that Mizzou game up at Columbia? Who said that Mizzou could outyell the howling Piker hundreds?

THE coach worth while is the coach who can smile when everything goes dead wrong." Just a variation of a trite saying, but it does apply to the popular Coach Rider with great vigor. If ever a deserving football mentor had the brightest prospects foiled by the continuous frowns of Dame Fortune, it was the present coach during the late lamented season of 1920. Before the season got under way, old man Eligibility came to bat and removed one James Conzelman from our midst, thereby creating a large void in the Piker backfield, not to mention morale, which was never completely filled despite the heroic efforts of his successors. "Conz" may have had some failings, but they never came to light on the football field, and the gridders never did recover from the shock of losing their field general. Then Hal Lippert, hearing the far-off tinkle of wedding bells, decided that education had lost its charm, and thus the team had to do without the services of one of the best tackles in the Valley. True, Milton Koch developed rapidly during the season, but he did not have the huge frame or the experience of Lippert. The well-known and gigantic Ed Kleiber was counted on to fill Al Marquard's shoes at center, but in a few weeks Ed was convinced that his old injury would not permit of his playing. To fill this gap Dick Hafner, ex-end, was hastily converted into a center. Dick will no doubt be a dandy center next season, but while he was learning the inside tricks of that intricate job we were losing ball games. Then, too, George Berger, the dashing blond halfback, was laid up the greater part of the season with a nice assortment of ailments, and the huge Rus Deeds was forced to miss the Ames games because of tonsillitis contracted from the Oklahoma swimming meet, and big Kurrus was out a long spell with a broken bone in his hand. The above incidents only serve to show the many handicaps under which the new coach had to work. At no time was he able to put his full strength upon the field, and he was always handicapped by the necessity of having several green men in the lineup.

The season was, however, far from a failure. True, we were in some way beaten by Drake, and were outclassed by Ames, but we won handily from Grinnell and our Turkey Day foe, St. Louis; and gave Oklahoma and our hated rival, Missouri, scraps they will not soon forget. In fact, an unkind downpour of rain was all that saved the Sooners, and the Tigers were enabled to turn almost certain defeat into victory in the last minute and then only with the aid of a questionable play. At all events, the team fought hard every inch of the way and were able to push over a touchdown in every game. Shanley undoubtedly gave the Piker rooters their biggest thrills by his catching of forward passes and the subsequent sprints over the goal line, and was easily our most potent scoring threat. Tommy Thompson, who eventually won the quarterback position, won with it the admiration of many with his accurate drop kicking ability. The defensive play of the guards, Deeds and Singleton, stood out prominently at all times. Shanley and Singleton were chosen on the mythical all-Valley eleven by a vote of the coaches, and Deeds was placed on the second team.

The Pikers opened the season with two games at home against Drury and Rolla. The Panthers were handed the short end of a 21 to 0 score and the Miners went back to the bowels of the earth with a 30 to 0 thump rankling in their breasts. The Pikers were always ahead and the coach was able to try out all his available material. The frolics were rather slow and uninteresting due to the hot weather and the constant shifts made and time taken out.

Grinnell was not considered in the light of a dangerous contender but the Iowans lost no time in removing that mistaken impression from the minds of their guests. The first half ended with the Pikers trailing 14 to 13, and Baldy Thompson still "hearing the birdies sing" due to a well placed and effective kick in the mouth. Tiring of this state of affairs, Baldy's angry playmates sallied forth in the final stanza and led by brother Tommy's dropkick (not in the mouth but over the enemy goal posts) tore off two extra touchdowns by dint of hard plugging and left for home with a 23 to 14 victory under their respective belts.

The "piece de resistance" was on tap the following week end at Francis Field with Bennie Owens' Sooners furnishing the resistance. Plans were made to accommodate a full house, and a monster mass meeting the night before effectively destroyed all chance Oklahoma had of winning. But no one had thought to consult old "Jup Pluvius" on weather conditions, and thereby hangs one of the Pikers' saddest tales. From the time "coin-grabber" Eilers muttered his first choice curses before the game until our defeated gridders wallowed mud-laden into the Gym it rained, increasing from a harmless drizzle to a veritable deluge. That deluge made the field a sea of mud, and really caused our defeat. The Sooners opened with a rush that could not be denied and culminated in a field goal for them. Then the Pikers braced and fought the remainder of the first half with untamed fury, fairly rushing the heavier visitors off their feet. Twice Lee Shanley leaped high in the air to grab the flying pigskin and dashed over the line for touchdowns, and never once was our own line threatened. It was a happy and confident mob that saw the Pikers leave the field leading 14 to 3. Then the rain came down in torrents, the ball became very slippery, and a large person by the name of Phil White appeared. He must have spent all his life in the mud, for where others skidded he galloped serenely on for gain after gain. Anyway, try as we might, nothing could check our mud-loving opponents, and soon they had rolled up three touchdowns while we were held

The Men

Fred Potthoff, retiring captain, made an excellent showing last year. The valley men who lacked Argonne experience received a taste of tank terrorism when Fred plowed through the opposing defenses. He was a good man with the pass and he collaborated with Shanley on many occasions to put over a much needed score.

Ollie Kreahe, a tackle, has been elected captain for the ensuing year. He has played three years and was an all-valley man in 1918. The gains through his position last year were something less than nothing.

Leo Shanley, fleet of foot, a deadly tackle, and a master with the forward pass, was one of two Washington U. men who were honored with "All-Valley" positions. He was awarded the right end position over a myriad of capable candidates. Shanley was one of the fastest men in the Valley and an excellent punter. His aptitude at forward passing gave the Pikers a number of points.

Ed Singleton, a guard, and hold-over from the 1918 championship machine, was given an all-valley position last year. A linesman, working as he does in a heaving mass of men, seldom attracts attention, but Singleton's play was of such a sensational nature that the football critics were forced to feature him.

Singleton

Russell Deeds, the hugest pebble on the Missouri Valley beach, was given a guard position on the second all-valley team in recognition of his wonderful play throughout the season. Many thought he should have fared better at the hands of those constructing the mythical eleven. He was a master at breaking through the opposing line and few drop or place kicks were tried against the Pikers as a result of his work.

Wallie Thumser, who divided the quarterback assignment with Tommy Thompson, was a wonder at running back punts and knew a thing or two of running a football team. He kept the machine on the jump incessantly and was a veritable dynamo of energy. He will contest Tommy Thompson's claim to the quarterback position next season.

Henry Griesedieck, one time captain, and backfield star for four years. He was valuable principally for his plunging ability and was as easy to stop as a pleasant habit.

George Berger, halfback and a former captain, sustained more hurts than an overlooked debutante, but was one of Washington's ablest groundgainers withal. George held a halfback position for a full four-year term and was placed on the all-valley team in 1918.

Tommy Thompson, quarterback, and drop-kicker par excellence. Tom is a dead shot for a field goal from the 25-yard line and has completed attempts from points deeper in the field. He played an excellent game at quarterback and ran his team in lively fashion. Tommy will be back for another year.

Dick Hafner, regular center, had a pleasant habit of recovering fumbles and running for touchdowns. His feat of eluding the entire Missouri team in a thirty-yard dash gave Piker adherents wild hopes for victory last Thanksgiving. Like Deeds, Hafner was adept at seeping through an opposing line and subjecting a punter or place-kicker to a rather persistent form of annoyance.

Dick Kremer, an end, was about the best defensive man that Washington had. Successful runs around his end were few and he scattered interference with a reckless and discouraging consistency.

"Doc" Matthes, a fullback, who rose from the ranks in a minute. He was one of the most determined plungers in the valley and his reckless manner of hurtling his body at the opposing line crashed many a formidable defense.

T. Thompson

Hafner

Ollie Kurrus, a tackle, and one of a family that has been identified with the Washington line for several years. Ollie's brother, Andy, was formerly captain and tackle of the 1917 eleven. Kurrus has played for two years and will return for one more season of varsity football.

Sid Cohen, a guard, did some excellent work, but playing opposite a man like Singleton has its drawbacks. Cohen has one more year of Varsity football and is expected to develop into a real star.

Milton Koch, a tackle, that developed toward the middle of the season, was a star at its close. He was especially good as a defensive player and crumbled several strong attacks at the scrimmage line. He sustained an injury to his knee near the close of the season but is expected to be ready for the opening next season.

George Thompson, fullback. George claims the long distance record for throwing a forward pass and his ability in this connection resulted in several long gains. George will return next year for a try at the regular fullback assignment.

Meirs

Credit should be given to "Mickey" Meirs, who managed the team throughout the entire season. Under his able leadership the several trips of the season were taken without the loss of equipment or patience.

Johnny Grant, a halfback and another survivor of the campaign of 1918. John was especially adept at dropping through tackle and off end for good gains. He will return for another year's play.

Morris Shipper, small, snug and snappy, and an end of no mean ability. He is also one of the "relics" of the 1918 machine. His small stature prevented him from being a startling success with the forward pass, but his work on the defense was above reproach.

Bob Denny, a center of some attainment and a lawyer of note. Bob's strict interpretation of the laws of real property relative to the right of eminent domain resulted in several large gains for the Piker backs. Bob is a sophomore and has two more years to play.

Bill Yorger, another quarterback. Yorger filled the position acceptably in the earlier stages of the season. Thompson's drop-kicking ability became such an important factor in the waning weeks of the season that Bill was supplanted. He will return next year for another attempt to win the position.

Record and Review of Season

 eers of 1920 upon which to build a successful team for the past campaign. Al Marquard, floor man extraordinary, and excellent shot; and Don Russell, who won a guard position on the second All-Valley team, were lost by graduation. Lippert was counted on again to gain the tip-off at center, and "Tarzan" Hurd was all ready to use his wonderful basket shooting to the best advantage when he was cruelly restrained from his noble resolves by a well organized defense among certain members of the faculty, while Lippert decided that there was other work to be done besides athletics and therefore did not return to school. Thus we lost four proven players with no experienced material to replace them. In fact, Captain Kraehe found himself surrounded with only Tommy Thompson and Ray Linnemeyer of Varsity experience, and with a few exceptions alleged players of a green type. It must be said that the team was a fighting outfit from start to finish even in the face of a very disastrous season, but a total lack of teamwork due to inexperience completely nullified brilliant individual efforts from time to time. Ollie Kraehe, although as a whole not playing the game he was capable of and at times being unnecessarily rough, was the back bone of the team, and early in the season scored a good many field goals from his guard position. Leffler, playing his first year at Varsity basketball, developed into a very dependable guard. In fact his worth may be easily proven by the fact that two very close games were lost in the final moments of play after he was forced to retire, once for injuries and once for fouls. Tommy Thompson never plays a brilliant game but is always in there, and this year was high man from the field, besides scoring a very creditable percentage of free throws, as 108 out of 183 will attest. In the second of the Oklahoma games he made a run of 15 without a miss, which is great in any man's league.
 Gaylord, who held down the other forward position, came out for the team after not having played in a number of years, and his frail physique prevented him from giving his best at all times. But when the "Duke" felt right there was no speedier forward in the Valley, and his shooting practically won the St. Louis game. Baldy Thumser at center was just a trifle too short and consequently could never gain the tip-off to the disadvantage of the Pikers, but Baldy was the real basketball man on the squad and, next year playing a position better suited to his build, should be a star of the first magnitude. Linnemeyer, Bery, DeBolt, O'Brien and McMahan served as substitutes during the season. Linnemeyer would undoubtedly make the regular team were it not for his diminutive stature, which makes him easy for a big man to guard. The others started out as very green players, but all developed during the season to the point where they can be counted upon to make a hard fight for regular places next winter.

When a team wins only three out of eighteen games there is no getting around the fact that the season could hardly be called successful. But we must not growl too hard when we stop to realize that the year before the Pikers were handing out the same kind of medicine to the same teams. Turn about is fair play, and our turn is next, so let's forget about the defeats and give the boys who struggled hard for "Old Alma" due credit for their efforts. The wonderful Tigers were simply too good for us. In the two opening games of the season they simply bewildered the boys with their pivot pass and accurate shooting and ran up two near half century totals to our eleven in each game. The first game in St. Louis was much on the same order, but in the last the Pikers braced and let it hereby be announced that it was one red-hot battle. A frantic crowd saw a tie score hung up with less than ten minutes to play and the Pikers gaining the upper hand when, curses—out came Leffler on personal fouls. That broke the morale for a minute and when we rallied it was too late and they had us by a few points.

Drake and Ames were the other Valley teams entertained at Francis Gym. Ames knocked us for a goal in the first game when it seemed that the Pikers were simply asleep on their feet, but the next night the Cyclones had the scrap of their young lives to cop, winning out by four points in the last two minutes of play. Drake was treated rather rudely, and we gained our only two Conference victories in these games.

The Pikers essayed two four-game road trips and on each trip lost four games, two each on the first trip to Kansas and Oklahoma, and a brace to Drake and Grinnell on the second. The first struggle with Kansas was a hard strife all the way until Leffler sprained his ankle and Thumser fell and injured his thigh. With these men out Kansas eventually won, and it also demoralized the team for the rest of the trip, the other three games being won by the opponents without much difficulty. It looked like a few victories on the last trip north, but the boys disappointed and dropped four straight in four listless and featureless games.

Paddy Fitzgerald turned out an elegant team at Concordia and the future preachers finally obtained the revenge they have been so eagerly seeking the past few years, when they triumphed by a margin of twenty points in a game replete with circus shots and productive of excellent basketball at all times. The shooting of the Lutherans in the second half, once they hit their stride, was simply unbeatable, and the best seen on the Piker court during the year.

They say that a story or a song is made in the ending and so the best has been reserved until the last to sweeten up the rather bitter story told above. Once more the dear old Blue and White, better known as St. Louis U., sought revenge on the court with what she proudly proclaimed as her best team in years—and did not get it. In a rip-roaring, good old-fashioned back alley fight in which it seems our opponents specialize, and in which in passing it might be stated the Pikers can always on occasions be quite proficient, interspersed with a bit of basketball, the Red and Green waved once more triumphant.

Washington's Athletic achievement for the past few years has been due in great part to the enthusiastic and earnest co-operation of our faithful "standbys," Doctor Ewerhardt, Doctor Lund, Doctor Smith, Judge Calhoun and "Gibbie." Doctors Lund and Ewerhardt, members of the Athletic Council, have always been on hand to render any medical attention and to offer a cheering word. Dr. Ewerhardt, who is a member of the Medical School Faculty, has paid special attention to the care of the Piker Warriors who have been seriously injured in athletics, and has done everything possible to look after their minor troubles as well as their major injuries. "Doc" Lund and "Doc" Smith have also served in this capacity and have been present on the side lines of the "grid iron," at scrimmages and contests where they have won a warm corner in the hearts of the players by their unlimited generosity.

Too much credit cannot be given to "Gibbie," whose short familiar figure and smiling face have not been absent from a single game, scrimmage, or practice during the past year. Gibbie is always on hand, and in 1920 went so far as to be the self-appointed, but well recognized, coach of the Freshman Baseball team. He not only knows each player by first and middle names, but knows off-hand practically the whole history of every Varsity candidate in the four sports. A man like "Gibbie," who has out of his own desire been so uniformly faithful and has voluntarily assumed unremunerative duties deserves a place at the top of the Piker Honor Roll.

CHAMPIONS of the Missouri Valley Conference for 1920 was the proud title won by Washington's first baseball team since 1914. And to make a good job of the season's work, the Piker ball tossers walloped their fellow townsmen from Concordia Seminary in an exciting twelve-inning game and thereby annexed the city title.

Much credit for the success of the team must be given to the splendid coaching received at the hands of Ralph Works, the former Detroit star, and later of Billy Bascom. The Pikers were very fortunate in being able to secure a man of Mr. Work's baseball knowledge to take the reins and develop the team. The former American Leaguer worked hard and faithfully with his squad until the middle of April when he was forced to turn over the helm to Billy Bascom, in order to accept the management of a Minor League team. He left a team, not of individual stars, but one where teamwork and baseball brains predominated. Seldom has a college team played such smart baseball. That Works was an excellent teacher is further borne out by the rapid development of several green and inexperienced men into players of the first magnitude. The genial Billy Bascom piloted the team through the actual playing season, and with that peppery and good-humored personage in command, the boys were always on their toes and working in close harmony.

The main factor in the success of the team was perfect teamwork and smart play at all times. Defensively the champions were very strong, and backed with air-tight pitching, the Pikers needed but few runs to win. The batting as a whole could not be called heavy, but what the men lacked in slugging ability was more than made up in the perfect execution of the hit-and-run and the squeeze play at critical moments.

Captain Zoeller was easily the outstanding star. His defensive work at hot corners was invulnerable and a ball hit in Frankie's direction was a sure out. On the offense, he was a terror, as his batting average of over four hundred will testify. Frank also drew an average of more than one walk per game, and stole something over fifteen bases. The little fellow was a fine field leader with his baseball brains and continual "pep" and chatter. The remainder of the infield with Metz, Schewe, and Shanley was air-tight at all times, in fact Lee and Elmer were guilty of but one error apiece during the entire campaign. Schewe also developed into the best bunter seen in college baseball in many a day. The outfield, composed of Tommy Thompson in left, Berger in center, and Hafner and Wyman alternating in right field, snared everything that came their way, and George wound up the season with a perfect fielding average, besides clouting the pill for many extra base wallops. Conzelman was a tower of strength behind the bat, a heady director of play, a deadly pegger to bases, and a sure catch on foul balls. When Jim was out, his place was ably taken care of by "Baldy" Thompson, who was even a harder hitter than "Konz." Marquard and Lyon, who alternated on the mound, were both experienced men, and never failed to turn in a well-pitched game. Besides, Al was a long-range gunner of deadly results in the pinch. The substitute strength of the team was almost as strong as the first-string men, and when called upon Wyman, McKim, Scurlock, and Linnemeyer delivered the goods in championship style.

The season opened very inauspiciously for the Pikers. The weather man produced a cold, drizzly day, uncomfortable alike to players and spectators, and our visitors from Ames completed the gloom by handing us a 7 to 4 defeat. The pitchers were sadly handicapped by cold fingers, but Plagge, being used to cold weather, fared better than Marquard, who completely lost control in the sixth inning. After passing four men in a row he was relieved by Lyon, who gave up a single before retiring the side and the damage was done. Berger distinguished himself in this game by slamming the ball for two triples, each time with a man on first. Al came back the following day with a well-pitched game and handed the Ames bunch the short end of a 10 to 2 count. The Pikers hit the ball savagely from the start and were never in danger.

The Kansas Aggies, fresh from two conquests over the Tigers, were the next visitors. Nothing daunted, the Pikers proceeded to knock the star hurler, McGrath, off the hill in three rounds, and copped the game 5 to 1. Marquard kept up his fine work of the previous week by turning in a four-hit effort, an error depriving him of a shut-out. In the second game, three straight errors in the first inning after two were dead got us off to a three-run disadvantage, but from then on Lyon was invincible, and the heavy artillery finally pounded out an 8 to 3 victory. In the sixth inning with the bases full, two out and the score 3 to 1 against us, Al Marquard essayed to pinch hit. The call was three and two, when Al leaned heavily on the next offering. When last seen the horsehide was passing over Pennsylvania

Zoellers

The inexperienced Berger became a fixture in center field when he nicked the redoubtable Plagge of Ames for two harsh three-baggers in the first game of the season and came back with a four-ply wallop the next day. His great speed enabled him to cover acres of ground without a bobble, and at bat to turn apparent outs into safe hits. With a year's experience in back of him George should be a world beater next spring.

Berger

Conzelman

Good old "Conz" was the same heady field general behind the bat as he was on the gridiron. Nothing escaped his eagle eye, and woe to the base stealer who dared try out his arm, or those batters unfortunate enough to send up a high foul in his territory. With the ash, Jim was a consistently successful hit and runner, and in the last game with Concordia punched a homer out of the park when a run was much needed.

Hafner

Dick played his best at all times, and showed his true pepper on the first base coaching line. It was Dick's first effort at baseball, and with the experience gained should prove a valuable man to the prospective 1921 Champions.

Lyon

The captain-elect worked hard and efficiently on the mound and when not pitching made his presence felt on the coaching lines. Monty lost only one game, that a heart-breaking 2 to 0 battle to the Tigers, and shut out Ames with the Valley title at stake. He should shine again next spring in the box, and make a capable leader.

Marquard

All the fielders had to do was heave in the general direction of first base and Shanley came up with the apple. Lee was the steadying influence of the team, and his brilliant defensive work saved many a hit, and wild throw. Shanley hit them hard and far, but was a persistent victim of fleetfooted enemy outfielders. Lee says next year he is going to knock them over the fences as a precaution.

Shanley

Schewe

George was unfortunate to catch on the same team with "Konz." In the games he worked behind the bat, Baldy proved himself to be a heady receiver and a harsh swatter. With Conzelman gone George will no doubt be called upon to do the bulk of the catching next spring.

G. Thompson

T. Thompson

Nothing got by Tommy in left field unless it was labeled safety from the crack of the bat, and his wonderfully accurate arm caused a number of demises at the plate among the contending baserunners. Tommy could not be said to be a heavy hitter, but he could be depended upon to insert his hits when they meant runs.

Wyman

Wyman was at home in either right field or shortstop. Hugh was somewhat of an erratic fielder, mixing in a sensational play with a ridiculous fumble, but with the bat he was always a dangerous man. They will have to hustle in order to prevent Hughey from being a regular this year.

METZ was not a showy type of player, in fact one would not know he was in the game until a glance at the box score revealed several hits to his credit, and a perfect day in the field. Charley was a consistently good shortstop, an attribute which few college teams possess.

MCKIM was the victim of most of the bad luck of the season. A rare combination of charley horses, sprains and bruises kept "Mac" on the bench most of the time. The few times he was able to play, he convinced the fans that a valuable man was out of the lineup.

Due credit should be given to those men who although they did not take part in enough games to make letters, showing their true worth and spirit by appearing for practice every evening and thereby giving the Varsity the needed practice. They are Linne-meyer, Scurlock, Welle, Gordon, Hausladen, Gould, Magualo, and Edgar, the last three named being Freshmen.

avenue, while all three Piker runners scored with Al behind. It was a thrilling moment that comes once in a lifetime.

The next week-end found the confident Pikers in Des Moines. Drake proved easy meat as the scores of 11 to 1 and 10 to 1 will attest. Al hurled the first game, allowing three hits, and incidentally cracked another homer over the left field wall. It wasn't until the last inning of the second session that they got a hit off Monty, and he fanned nine of the first thirteen men to face him. Zoeller got the range of the right field fence in this game and the Bulldogs were minus another apple.

It was a sore and disheartened bunch that assembled after the redoubtable Plagge handed us a dose of whitewash in the first embroglio at Ames. Zoeller made the only hit off his delivery, and his game was well nigh perfect. Al twirled a neat game, but several hits and a misjudged liner in the sixth canto gave the enemy three runs and the old ball game. Lyon reciprocated in the whitewash business on the next day and Ames had to take the small end of a 5 to 0 count. It was a fine comeback and the boys left for home confident of copping the gonfalon.

Drake called at Francis Field the next week and was rudely jolted for two more victories. The first seance was rather easy, with the Pikers hammering in eight runs while Al, out of generosity, gave the helpless Bulldogs a couple. Frankie poled four hits in this scrap, and rang the bell with a hot shot over the picket fence in right field. The second game was not won until the final inning when "Baldy" Thompson smote a triple to right and scored when Lyon's high fly connected with the right fielder's head. The Pikers had tied the score in the penultimate session when, with Lyon on

Track Review

THE 1920 track season was the most successful in the history of the Pikeaway. The Varsity won outdoor dual meets from the Rolla School of Mines and from Drake University. A combined team of Freshmen and Varsity stars won the outdoor Muny meet, and carried away second place honors in the indoor Muny Meet. Coach Castleman selected Kremer, Wolf, Jackes, Marsh, Auer and Drake to represent Washington in the Missouri Valley meet at Ames. "Dick" Kremer covered himself with glory by breaking the discus record with a hurl of 130 feet 6 inches. The others found the competition too fast to place.

Other Varsity men who developed under Coach Castleman's tutelage and starred in the dual meets were Berger in the hurdles, Williams, Everley and Fox in the mile and two-mile, and Potthoff and Lippert in the weights.

Anderwert, Bremser, Rowley, Hoagland, Spencer, Schultz, Thumser and Tremlett of the Freshmen team performed well in the Muny and Fresh-Varsity meets and appear to be of first-class Varsity caliber.

The prospects for the 1921 season are bright as only two letter men, Jackes and Marsh, are lost through graduation. There are ten veterans from last year's team back and, with the addition of last year's Freshmen stars, the Varsity should put a strong team on the field. Coach Rider has arranged the following schedule for the present season: March 19, Muny Track Meet, Coliseum; April 19, Dual Track Meet, Washington vs. Rolla, Francis Field; May 7, Dual Meet, Drake U. vs. Washington, Des Moines, Ia.; May 11, Freshmen Valley Meet. Returns from the entire Valley will be wired to St. Louis. May 14, Dual Meet, Washington vs. Grinnell, Francis Field; May 21, Mississippi Valley Interscholastic Track Meet, Francis Field; May 27-28, Missouri Valley Track Meet, Francis Field; June 4, Outdoor Muny Meet (Tentative), Francis Field.

In the Muny Indoor Meet the Pikers finished second in scoring to the strong Japri A. C., which is composed of A. A. U. veterans and ex-high school stars. The Red and Green runners won the collegiate honors by defeating the Rolla School of Mines and Sewanee University. Kremer, with a first in the shotput; Drake, Rowley and Lynn with thirds in the 50-yard dash, 600-yard and 1000-yard runs, were the best point getters for Washington.

Review of the Tennis Season

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY won the Missouri Valley Tennis Championship in the Elimination Tournament held at Iowa State College at Ames on May 28 and 29 last year. Walter Haase and Wray Brown defeated the Ames doubles team in the finals after surviving strenuous matches with other Valley teams. In the singles Haase and Brown both reached the finals, but did not meet each other for the championship as Washington had already won the trophy by having both the finalists.

On May 11 the Washington men met the University of Oklahoma representatives in St. Louis, Brown defeating Monnette and Haase defeating Darrough. The doubles team, made up of Valesca Satterfield and Octavius Mendez, was defeated by the Oklahoma team.

In the fall, Washington again met Oklahoma University, Brown and Satterfield journeying to Norman, Oklahoma, on November 11 to play the Parks brothers. On account of the cold weather in St. Louis the Washington team had abandoned practice and consequently won but one of the five matches played.

With Brown and Satterfield still in the University and Kamman, City Junior Champion out for the team, prospects are favorable for repeating the success of last year at the Valley Tournament which is to be held in St. Louis this spring.

Ralls, Watson, Lyon, Williams, Tremlett, Everly

The Cross Country Team

CACH RIDER'S call for cross country men last September brought out a small squad of about ten men who trained faithfully. Being unable to schedule dual meets the coach chose Ralls, Williams, Watson, Everly, Tremlett and Lyon to represent Washington in the Missouri Valley cross country race held at Grinnell, Iowa, on November 13. Watson, a strong runner, was unable to accompany the team, as he was stricken with appendicitis.

The "Piker" team was disqualified in the race because only four of the five-man team finished. Everly, our fifth man, failed to finish the five-mile grind after a determined effort. Tremlett, Ralls, Williams and Lyon finished in the order named for Washington. As "Monty" Lyon will be the only runner lost through graduation, the prospects for next year are very good.

Inter-Fraternity Basketball

ON DECEMBER 2, 1920, the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, by defeating the Kappa Alpha quintet for the interfraternity Championship, earned the first engraving on the three-year cup which was purchased by the Pan-Hellenic Association for the tournament.

This game was the most exciting of the season without a doubt with "Muddy" Wier and Gaylord shining for the winners and Mare, Busch and Brown showing up strong for Kappa Alpha.

The two most interesting games of the semi-finals were between the Sigma Alpha Epsilon five and the Kappa Alpha squad and between the Betas and the Phi Deltas. The K. A.'s walloped the S. A. E.'s with a 14-3 score while the Phi Deltas earned their place in the finals by nosing out the Betas by a score of 15-14.

The fraternities eliminated earlier in the tournament were: Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Mu, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Chi.

Pan-Hellenic Baseball

THE Phi Delta Theta team emerged victorious from the annual Pan-Hellenic Baseball Series for the Drosten Trophy last spring after a number of hotly contested games on Francis Field. The Theta Xi team, which had won the championship the two previous years, led their league and met the Phi Deltas in the finals for the championship. These games were the center of much interest, for the fraternity whose team wins the trophy for three successive years retains possession of the Drosten Trophy.

The Phi Deltas opened the championship games by knocking two home runs in the first inning of the first game, but neither of the games were in any sense walkaways for the Phi Deltas; the score of the first game being 15-9 and the score of the second 6-3. Johnnie Lewis pitched for the Phi Deltas and Fla Williams received. The Theta Xi's mound artist was "Spaget" Magualo and Alonzo Finn performed behind the bat.

The Drosten Trophy was presented in 1912 by Mr. William G. Drosten and was won that year by the Theta Xis. In 1913 it was won by the Betas, in 1914 three fraternities tied, in 1915 and 1916 the Phi Deltas won the trophy. On account of the war there was no contest in 1917. The Theta Xis regained the trophy again in 1918 and 1919.

A Pan-Hellenic Ice Hockey team was formed in the fall of this year under the leadership of Peyton Hawes. Practice was held every Monday afternoon between five and six o'clock at the Winter Garden, De Believriere and Kingsbury boulevard, until the end of March. The only opponent the team had was Mae Cabanne's team, composed of good skaters in the city. Two hard-fought games were played, the first of which resulted in a tie, 1-1, and the second a defeat for W. U., 4-2. A third game would have been played had the rink remained open longer.

The Eliot came into existence in the spring of 1914 as a vehicle for undergraduate literature, and apart from dormancy during the war, has managed to maintain existence down to the present day. In the year of its birth the magazine was distributed at intervals of six weeks; however, during 1919 and 1920 but four issues have found the light. Since September, 1920, the magazine has appeared twice, the issues being dependent upon the number of idealistic advertisers who care to burn fuel in the fires of literature.

Heterogeneous verse and prose are to be found in the forty pages that comprise the magazine. Older poetic forms shoulder to shoulder with the less rigid verse of the modern school, and a half a dozen short stories of unvarying excellence constitute the usual numbers. The stories concern the existence of all places under the sky save Washington University. Criticisms, literary, political, social, are given space, although the undergraduate mind runs more to fancy than hard thinking.

IF I WERE KING," the pretentious but charming spectacle by J. H. McCarthy, was admirably presented at the Odeon on the evenings of the twelfth and thirteenth of May.

A departure from the ordinary, the production proved very successful. The romance, the picturesque quaintness, and the pageantry of medieval France was well portrayed in the various tableaux. Especially effective was the tavern scene wherein the finish of the ensemble was particularly well executed with polish and precision, rewarding the earnestness and thoroughness of preparation.

To Tom Dawson, the versatile Villon, fell a difficult and many-sided role. As a royal lover he played his part well, but in the rollicking tavern scenes of his humbler existence and in the heroic splendor of a man-at-arms his portrayal was excellent.

When a Man Sees Red, a hair-raising and breath-dispelling play of three acts, by G. Daniel Bartlett, was presented two successive nights and a matinee to overflowing houses.

This play has been proclaimed by all of its witnesses to be the most thrilling and blood-refrigerating of all the past mellerdrammers given by Thyrsus. Numerous times was the audience moved to sympathetic tears for the "perfect lovers"—Mary Lang and Douglas O'Brien, commonly known on the Quad as beautiful, irresistible Gayle and noble, manly, handsome "Hixs." In the next instant the sentiment would change to unexpressable contempt for the sleek, polished villain as he laughed in fiendish glee at the pretty heroine, bound by his henchmen, and shouted: "Ah hah, my proud and haughty beauty, I have found you at last; now you must either marry me or become my wife"! This character still moves about in the shape of Karl Wackman.

Then as the gruesome plot developed there were numerous other characters who proved themselves to be appropriately selected. There was Mae Green as Olga, the soft, melodious-toned vampire with the wicked "come hither" look; and Harry Lang, the dashing young college chap who fell in love, saved three or four lives, and hit the climax by shooting the villain to death without firing a shot. This very busy character was the well-known campus clown, Fred Pavey.

Who was his heavy love? Ah, none other than Mazie Dooley (Dorothea Burbach), who made her debut as a “steno,” changed to a “Gob” in the second act and blazed into prominence as a lightweight pugilist in the last spasm by dealing a right to the jaw of “Cockey” that sent him spinning on his ear.

These persons, with the aid of the other combatants, to be found in the cast, rendered the "mellerdrummer," which very appropriately ended with all of the lovers being married and living happily ever after. Not only did every actor do his or her part, but even the audience participated in the presentation of various kinds of fruits and foliage.

The Choice of Osiris

THE pageant, "The Choice of Osiris," which was given by the students of the School of Fine Arts on May 28 and 29 of last year, was the second production of that nature presented by the Art Students during recent years. This presentation of Egyptian life was given in the Kensington Gardens, which were part of the British Exhibit during the World's Fair of 1904. The work on the pageant was done entirely by the students, Donald Johnson and Manuel Essman being the authors of this story of ancient Thebes. The scenery was designed by Delmar Gray and Manuel Essman.

The scene of the pageant was the courtyard of an ancient Egyptian Temple with a huge statue of Osiris in the background. The cast of the production was as follows:

Prologue	GEORGE WETLE
Pharaoh	WILLIAM FORREST
High Priest	WALKER HANCOCK
Chancellor	RICHARD BYRNES
Priests	{ WALLACE ROSENBAUER
Slave Girl	{ DELMAR GRAY
	GLADYS BLOCK

The large attendance on both nights and the enthusiastic appreciation expressed by the audiences spoke for the excellence of the production. The profit realized from the pageant was used to supply scholarships to worthy Art Students.

BOOK-5 REVIEW

The Year

IN THE past year the University has had big tasks confronting it. With the ever-increasing enrollment and the subsequent growth of buildings have arisen many new problems that had never been dreamed of even in the fondest hopes of that ennobled group of founders who saw the first formulation of their plans in the establishment of the institution in 1853.

On the north side of the campus a new Biological Building has been erected as also has North Hall, a building of auditorium capacity and proportions, thus meeting temporarily the then excessive classroom demand. A new Law School building is proposed, being the gift of Mrs. Josephine Valle January. It will be erected on the northwest corner of the Quadrangle to correspond with the new Dunker Commerce building which will take its place on the opposite end of Ridgley Library at the southeast corner of the Quadrangle. These two valuable additions will rank the University in a position envious of none.

An unprecedented growth in the enrollment in all schools of the University and in the night courses has brought to us many new instructors. For the first time since the war all departments have been amply provided with professors.

These material evidences of expansion and growth have been substantiated by a marked tendency toward a more vigorous display of University consciousness and enthusiasm. Wholehearted interest, culminating in achievement, has been the keynote marking all endeavors were they athletic, literary, musical, theatrical or oratorical.

Athletics under the supervision of Coach Rider and his able staff has made a most commendable record. Baseball claiming the Valley Championship, track with a promising field ahead, football and basketball with creditable performances, tennis claiming the Valley Championship, boxing and wrestling with their coaches and enthusiastic followings, a golf team and a swimming team representing the Pikeaway are all worthy representations of Washington spirit.

Our debating teams have met with successful year and succeeded in capturing the Missouri Valley title. The Thyrsus Dramatic Society has drawn much favorable comment from all quarters. The Glee and Mandolin Club has just finished what has been one of the most successful and extensive trips ever taken by a Washington University musical organization when it toured Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri. A forty-piece brass band has made its appearance and fills a long-felt need. The literary activities, formerly confined to the Eliot and Student Life, have been augmented by the appearance of The Dirge, which has quickly taken its place along with the ranking collegiate comics of the country, recently having ranked fifth in Judge's Annual Collegiate Comic Contest.

The annual Surkuss, Frosh-Soph Class Fight, May Day, St. Pat's Day, Dandelion Day, Hatchet Queen Election, St. Fatimas Day, Lock and Chain Boat Ride, Junior Prom and many other events have served to make the year's calendar well rounded.

Washington has been called upon to take her place with the foremost institutions of the country and has responded nobly. She is today truly a greater Washington.

Dandelion Day

HE warm sun was beaming upon the Quad at noon of May 6th, 1920. The sun dial on the wall of Cupples I boomed the hour in resonant tones, as if to emphasize the fact that the Freshman factions were soon to battle for the honor of their ladies fair in the Annual Dandelion Rush.

Presently the cohorts of Miss Betty Hillebert were seen approaching over the Southern horizon. But the most imposing spectacle was the advance of Miss Josephine Lawnin's legions from the North. In their midst was drawn her private chariot loaded with a horde of golden tallies for the day's affray, this treasure guarded by the brawny warriors, clad to a greater or less degree in tattered raiment.

Promptly at one o'clock a pistol in the hands of President Ratner barked the signal for the opening of hostilities. The conflict raged with savage ferocity. Many were those borne in anguish from the field; many were those who lost all (their clothes) in that day's struggle. For a long half-hour the outcome was in doubt, while the contestants rushed and pushed their treasure-bearers across the line to the judges' stand.

At last came the pistol shot which put an end to the slaughter, and, incidentally, took away part of the left ear of the "Colonel's Chief Aid." Among the casualties were also found Bill Fries, who had lost part of his left leg, and "Tubby" Howard, who had lost three suits of clothes and most of his modesty.

The count was soon ended, and showed that the men fighting for Miss Josephine "Pony" Lawnin had 2,650 dandelions in the count, while Miss Betty Hillebert had 2,300. The rejoicing of the victors was ecstatic, not to say hysterical, and led them from lusty cheering to acts of violence. Finally the queen's chariot was drawn forth to carry her in triumph around the Quad, 'mid the cheers of the multitude.

May Day

HE annual May Day celebration given by the W. S. G. A. was presented on the afternoon and evening of May 6th in the courtyard of McMillan Hall, which was transformed for the occasion into a veritable English village at fair time. Cobblestone huts with straw-thatched roofs were numerous in Bonneyville. On the outskirts of the village was a lively gypsy camp. Bandaned heads could be seen moving about the round-topped wagon and camp fire. There in the public square stood the well, and over yonder was the tavern; it was here that the fete day celebrators dressed in their holiday clothes of vivid hue presented Bennett's Master Skylark under the direction of Miss Mathilde Watson. The cast was composed of the following students:

The annual planting of the ivy by the girls of the Senior class preceded the Bonnybrook Fair. The ivy was planted on the north wall of McMillan Hall Court in Dean Langsdorf's honor by Faith Young, Vice-President of the Senior class. Viola McCullen as Vice-President of the Junior class, accepted the ivy and the duties of carrying on Washington traditions.

The Univee Surkuss

YEZ! OYEZ! OYEZ! Ladies and Gentlemen, step right this way! Here's where you buy your tickets. Right this way, gentlemen; place your bets on the horses, you're sure to win no blanks! See Venus, queen of the dancing models! Sorry, lady, gents only admitted. Knock 'em down off of there. Give me three more balls. Say, mister, do small boys get in free? Here you are, the show for all the family. Absolutely the most wonderful collection of musicians, ever gathered together, all for the ridiculous price of ten cents, one tenth of a dollar. These and various other cries greeted the visitor upon entering the show grounds of the widely heralded and placarded Univee Surkuss.

The Annual Univee Surkuss under the auspices of Pralma last May was given for the benefit of the Washington University Salary Endowment Fund, and has been pronounced by all to be the best surkuss ever held on the Hill.

The Lawyer's "Alamac Cafe" in the Gym was one of the big attractions. The walls were bedecked with pictures of well-known chorus girls and bathing beauties. The place was "a la Alamac" in every respect. (Wonder where the Lawyer's got the idea?) Four dizzy looking bartenders presided behind the bar, ready to "draw" a schooner for anyone who had the necessary "shekels." A red-hot cabaret was put on in the evening, and while things were cooling off, Jimmiv Conzelman's syncopaters furnished "jazz" for shimmy artists.

What odds are you giving on Pluto? Well, how about Jupiter Pluvius? All bets placed! Start 'em off! Clang, goes the bell, and the trusty steeds are off. Such was the talk about the table of the Pan-Hellenic Derby which was run off in the afternoon. Each fraternity was represented by a horse, the legs of which were composed of Freshmen, under a camouflage horsehide. There were bookmakers on the spot and Pluto was favored in the early betting. However, the upset of the day was the great race of Diana, who careened into the ropes on the second lap, but made a sensational recovery and led the field at the finish. The track was rather slippery and the steeds were unable to negotiate the curves at as great a pace as usual. The most peculiar steed was the one whose hind and fore-legs both thought they were "fore"—quick, Watson, the niblick.

"Robinson Caruso," or "The Love Affair of Lulu," was the title of the Architects' show. The intricate plot was as follows: Robinson Caruso is shipwrecked and washed upon the fair shores of a South Sea island. He is seized with glee by the dusky cannibals, for they intend to appease the wrath of their king by preparing a kettle of white meat for his evening repast. The crestfallen Caruso is about to be put on the fire to stew, when the lovely Princess Lulu entwines her clinging arms about his neck. Lulu then vamps the hungry king and Q. E. D.—no white meat on the menu that evening. Caruso succumbs to the charms of the lovely, but lonely Lulu, and they are wed beneath the sighing palm trees to the soft strains of Hawaiian music. Oh Daddy!

The Glee and Mandolin Club's Tour

THE combined Glee and Mandolin Clubs departed Friday morning, December 31, 1920, on their eighth annual trip, which included Little Rock, Ark., Fort Smith, Ark., Muskogee, Okla., Tulsa, Okla., Oklahoma City, University of Oklahoma, Springfield, Mo., and Memphis, Tenn. They returned Sunday, January 9, 1921, pronouncing it the most successful and enjoyable trip ever taken; and all the boys were "strong for the South." The clubs were under the most proficient management of Venable Johnson, to whom, according to the boys, goes the credit for their success.

Let us pause, if we may, at this point to pay a personal tribute to the aforesaid business manager. Good old "Ven," the boy with the worried look, was "papa" to us all. He told us when to eat, where to eat, and then how much to eat; and that's not all he told us! As an extemporaneous speaker he would do any oratorical school proud; as a business manager the Commerce and Finance School has nothing on him; and last but not least he demonstrated another rare asset at the University of Oklahoma, and now he enjoys the title of "Kid Johnson," the battling business manager from Washington University. With all these other qualities the fact that he is a lawyer was very convincing when he read the law of contracts to them in Norman, Okla., and let me tell you he made them believe him. But now in passing, let it not be overlooked that "Ven" enjoyed the privilege of having a limited train, from Oklahoma City to St. Louis, held for him for fifteen minutes. Now beat that!

Well, after traveling all day through the swamps of Arkansas and making but two stops (one was for a cow and the other, I think, to cut down a tree) our train came to its final resting place, and we found Hot Rocks!—I mean, Little Rock, was awaiting us. Right here I wish to pause and give three cheers for Little Rock—the clubs strongly recommend it. Of course, it being New Year's Eve and we having an engagement to render an hour's performance at the Boat Club, we all anticipated a slow evening. The program was rendered to the enjoyment of all—and then the fun began. Ah! 'twas a sad evening for the proverbial women haters—for alas! each told his tale in tears, how he had succumbed to "Southern Hospitality." Notably among these was one of our very distinguished members about whom I would like to tell you, fond readers, but since my life has been threatened by a thousand curses, and he being quite "a man about the Quad," I dare not.

The most peculiar event took place at breakfast (of course you know we hadn't been there all night, 'cause it was New Year's Eve—"never heard of it"—but you see, we returned for breakfast). We were rendering a most beautiful selection, and when at the most delicate point, "with the silence coming on," one of our distinguished songsters, somewhat resembling a Greek church during a holiday, burst forth in the most well rendered "solo crescendo"—we are still wondering why, but we truthfully believe that he had his mind on some other subject; of course it could have been for no other reason. It was truly a liquid note. Well, enough said about Little Rock; but the clubs did a lot of missionary work while there and we should be blessed with more Little Rock Co-Eds in the future.

Its Riding Ease Is a Distinctive Essex Appeal

Isn't the unusual degree of favor Essex finds among women a most natural consequence of its fine appearance and obvious quality, together with its practical independence of repair and adjustment needs?

They find in it all the performance, comfort and riding ease that they formerly knew only in the big, high-priced cars. And in addition they have such prized advantages as lightness, handling ease, safety and economy.

W.A.A.

ON DECEMBER 11, 1920, Keod gave its annual Vodvil. Both matinee and evening performances were presented at North Hall to appreciative audiences. Eleven women's organizations contributed to the program.

Thyrus and the Women's Glee Club were represented by individual numbers. Thyrus by Miss Berenice O'Brien, who gave several good comical character sketches, one of which, the "Woman on the Sleeper," made quite a hit; the Women's Glee Club by impersonations of distinguished singers by three of its members—Nell Carleton as Fay Bainter, Berenice Koenig as Grace La Rue, and Ruth Windsor as Nietzi. "The Shuranoff Dancers," featured by the W. A. A., also took a prominent part on the program.

Frances Broerman with her bobbed hair and her peasant costume was a "shurenough" Russian dancer.

Another original stunt was the "Quadrangles," by the Ukulele Club, which consisted of parodies on some of the most representative university men and women. This naturally amused the student body in the audience.

The five sororities did their share to make the show a success. Alpha Chi Omega did well in their picturesque "Japanese Fantasy," and Gamma Phis, in "Co-ed Parodies," truly portrayed the typical man of Washington U. Quad and his "line."

Pi Phis gave a clever little sketch entitled "Wrecked Wallet," in which poor husband is the victim of his wife's extravagance. The "Vamps of the Ages," by the Delta Gammas, was original and entertaining. Theta's stunt, "Bohemian Whipped Cream," a snatch of Greenwich Village life, was probably the most finished production of the performance, but for real amusement, it had to give way to the Asklepios minstrels and their jazzy band.

However, in consideration of the poor stage facilities and other conditions, the various stunts were well represented, and the whole performance was conceded in general to be unique and well managed.

St. Fatima's Day

THIS is an annual custom of the Followers of the Prophetess Fatima to implore her intercession, on their behalf, with Allah, the All-Powerful, to the end that the Faithful Architects may be protected from the snares of their enemies, the Professors. This year, Wednesday, January 19, was the day appointed for the performance of those sacred rites.

On that occasion the Prophetess herself rode in the gorgeous procession, which was led by Omar, King of the Moslem Architects. In front of him were the dancers who keep the royal eyes dilated. Behind, came the High Priest to protect the king from the evil influences. Various captives followed; specimens of the Architect's hated rivals, Lawyers, Bookkeepers, Dents, Medics, Engineers and one starving Professor. The Quad Vamp wunk a wicked eye at the bystanders, while the "Life Art Class" evaded the breezes by hiding in a barrel and a swimming suit.

After mounting half way up the Great Stairway which leads to Allah's abode the procession halted and lifted its united voices in supplication. King Omar prayed loudly, but Allah heard not. All eyes turned to Fatima, who alone could make Allah hear. She was asleep and could not be awakened. Omar summoned the Royal Alarm Clock Bearer, but to no avail. In desperation the Court Magician was called. His advice was that King Omar kiss the sleeping Prophetess and assured all that this would awaken her. Omar complied with alacrity, and with great success.

St. Fatima offered up a beautiful prayer which penetrated to the innermost recesses of Allah's seclusion. He appeared at his portals on high and at great length called down blessings upon the Architects, and curses upon their oppressors, and assured the Faithful that there was nothing to be feared in the approaching season of torment and examination.

Whereupon the King was greatly pleased, and forthwith held an election in which his successor was chosen. After feasting and merry-making the Children of Allah went their several ways, in peace and contentment.

IF I WERE KING

As a crafty and superstitious Louis XI Morris Caruovsky was always in character. He combined natural and effective pantomime with studied tricks of voice and gesture depicting the monarch an interesting figure of more than usual importance. This last effort must stand as the apex of a series of admirable portrayals which Carnovsky has so skillfully and faithfully devoted to Thyrsus.

Miss Frances Hayes as Katherine de Vaucelles was sincere and convincing. Inclined toward restraint of speech and gesture she played the proud stately queen very effectively and with graceful stage presence. Miss Helen Curtis as Hugette de Hamel tended to display an unusual realism in this very temperamental and emotional character, especially in the death scene.

Dan Bartlett presented all the foolery and rascality obtainable from the part of Guy Tabarie, while Miss Julia Jonah gave a pathetic and appealing characterization of the poet's aged mother.

Commendation for their skill and talent must be given to Messrs. Drake, Poole, Hancock, Anderson and Bailey in their minor roles and to the various members of the large ensemble, the Henchmen, Courtesans, Soldiers, Pages and the Mob for their faithful and vital interpretations.

Large audiences on both evenings enjoyed these successful presentations of a very popular play which equaled if not surpassed the standard of other Annuals.

GLEE AND MANDOLIN CLUB TOUR

After spending two "wonderful days" in Little Rock we sorrowfully took our leave for Fort Smith, Ark., and here our casualties began. Good old Ollie Kurrus was the first victim of a lost shoe, for in the midst of forty-three musicians in one Pullman, all attempting to don "monkey suits" and "biled shirts" in fifteen minutes; Ollie wended his way on hands and knees, searching for the said shoe, at last finding it safely under his own berth.

Fort Smith proved to be a live little city and we stopped long enough to get a free meal from the "Ad" Club, give our concert before a large audience, and finally to be the honor guests at a dance given after the concert. That reminds me of "the girl in blue" who was a bad actor; no, I'd better not, for the story is a long one and somewhat complicated. As throughout the Bella Vista Orchestra was the leading attraction both at and after the concert.

Now of course we had to give our two comedians an opportunity to show their originality, and so they did this very same night—much to Jerry Wolf's expense. You see Jerry, being a senior, occupied an "upper" above Fred and Pink, and the two aforesaid men were thoughtful enough to find the combination to said "upper" and rock Jerry to sleep by folding the upper much after the fashion of an enraged clam. After this was continued until the "wee hours," when Jerry had become "well rocked" and Pavey had rendered several tunes on the festive trombone and also called out the "cops" by celebrating Fourth of July on January 3—we decided to call it a night.

The next day we awoke in Muskogee, Okla., to find that "Ven" had decided to give us a day of rest. We did not give a concert here but visited for the day, in which time the boys took in all the shows; Reith and Crowe learned that the sliding scale of prices, in Muskogee, only slides one way. And that ain't down.

On our arrival in Tulsa, Okla., the following day, we learned that "Jerk" Johnson had become the first entry to our "barrel squad." Through the negligence of some poor freshman his grip was mislaid. Thus Jerk had only lost all of his clothes—let me see: I think he did have a necktie, yes, and a button hook! He shook a nasty barrel for the remainder of the trip. Through the splendid publicity given by our Alumni, we had a very large audience at the concert; and, yes, a dance was given for us at the Elks Club.

And now we come to the day of many events, which commenced by our arrival in Oklahoma City about noon. After having lunch in the city we journeyed to the University of Oklahoma at Norman, where we gave, in our opinion, our "best concert" to the "best audience" in the "best auditorium." Arrangements had been made, thanks to Ven, for the boys to dine at their respective "lodge" houses and everybody enjoyed visiting with "the brothers." Owing to a misunderstanding ('at a boy, Ven) we were delayed in departing from Norman, which necessitated the aforementioned and very distinguished event of having "our train" held for fifteen minutes. During the delay Ollie Kurrus was relieved of his suitcase, hence—another member of our "barrel squad." Ollie appeared in a neat six-hoop barrel cut on the bias with a tulle collar.

Springfield was next graced by our trained flock of Cupid fighters, and believe me that good old Missouri town turned out to be "quite the berries."

After singing for our food (which we had become accustomed to do by this time) we were very enjoyably entertained at lunch by the Chamber of Commerce, at which time we were informed that a dance had been arranged for us that afternoon; many protests were voiced, but since they insisted—well—we all put on clean collars, combed our hair, and proceeded to look the girls over, and—“Oh-oh-oh-oh-oh-oh,” such a bevy of beautiful bonitas—ho hum! ’twas a hard dance. Ah! ’twas here we lost several more of our number by the wayside (that is, cupidly speaking). Ah, me! love is great—even if ’tis but for a day.

As in Little Rock, after giving the concert, we sorrowfully took our leave, especially one of our number. Poor boy, to think that he who battled his way through two years of Engineering, has valiantly struggled for two years in Law, and plays in our banjo club; like those mighty men of yore—fell.

As all good things must end, so also did our trip with the last concert in Memphis, Tenn. Good old Memphis welcomed us with open arms (I said Memphis—well, who’s Memphis?). We were entertained at lunch by the Chamber of Commerce and City Club. Owing to the late arrival of the advertising matter, our concert could have enjoyed a larger audience.

For some unknown reason Memphis had a very peculiar effect on some of our number who, after the concert, suddenly grew entertaining and talented. There was Art Nash, who surprised us all by displaying high hurdling possibilities; he took those rails in the station like any other rail. He only missed two and, fortunately, the floor was only concrete. Well, what's a rail among friends, anyhow? Then our old friend Bill Crowdus amused us for awhile as "a Memphis chippy." He soared, and soared, and soared, and "lit" but once—sufficient. But there we must not forget "Stan" Jackes, who was unusually versatile in his talents. As a high diver he has beautiful form, demonstrating the art of falling out of an "upper" without any damages; and last but not least, Stan waxed extremely melodious as well as affectionate. Ah! he sang as a lover to his love—but alas! she was in St. Louis.

And now as the time has arrived, I am forced to tell you of our last night and—the "whiffle tree." You see this is a yearly event, taking place on the last night of each trip, much to the enjoyment of the former trip men, but not so enjoyable for the "embryo tripsters." About 2 a. m. the good old whiffle tree was well in bloom, and red were the blossoms thereon. After the noise of the fray had subsided and the smoke of the battle lifted, it was found, much to our pleasure, that the casualties were but few. "Stew" Jenkins tried to remove the side of a berth. Our little drummer boy was found to have been well beat, and Jerk Johnson—well, he didn't "shuffle" quite so artistically for several weeks following. Outside of these unfortunate ones the party was a "huge success."

Our last day, Sunday, was spent on the train; and at 5 p. m. we arrived safely in our native land. The trip was indeed a very successful one and our concerts were highly commended by the press of each town we visited. We shall look forward to next year with greater expectations—especially if we go to Little Rock.

Heigh-ho! The joy and the laughter.

C. E. Trip

ON AUGUST 29th, seventeen Civil Engineers and two professors departed for Green Mountain Falls, on their annual Fall Trip, to spend three weeks surveying in the mountains. The party arrived in Denver on the morning of the 31st, and departed that afternoon for Colorado Springs on the way to their final destination—Buena Vista Resort, at Green Mountain Falls. Terry Smutz, because of a good reason in Denver, missed the train and arrived happy the next day.

The Civil Engineers arose the next morning to find a town made up of a lake, a garage, two general stores and a drug store that was all that could be wished for. A few campers' huts were perched upon the side of the mountains.

Work was started immediately. The Juniors spent three weeks making a topographical survey of the surrounding country, while the Seniors divided their time in establishing a triangulation system and running in a railroad spur on the side of the mountain.

On Saturday, September 4th, the Civil Engineers were the guests of honor, (at $1.10 per), at the grand opening of Columbine Dance Hall. A thorough search of the mountains netted only seven girls. However, the mayor saved the day with a wagon-load of Vassar girls who were visiting a neighboring resort.

The following week the C. E. Minstrels played to a packed house at Columbine Hall. Professor Sweetser and Don Miller as end men, Tom Tracy as interlocutor and Terry Smutz as soloist were the stars of the production. The climax of the entertainment was an oriental dance rendered by "Skinny" Schuermann, who was proclaimed to be a reincarnation of Salome. The critics of the town declared the show to be the best that had hit the town during the season.

All spare time was spent in horseback riding, mountain-climbing, fishing and fussing at the drug store.

The C. E.'s left Green Mountain Falls on Friday, September 17th. On Saturday they were entertained with an automobile inspection trip of irrigation works in the vicinity of Denver. After this the party disbanded, some returning home, and others remaining for sightseeing tours.

IN a veritable fairyland of yellow and white, Miss Lillian Grenzfelder was crowned Queen of Love and Beauty of Washington University when the results of the 1922 Hatchet Queen popularity contest were made public at the Junior Prom, held in Francis Gymnasium on the night of April 1, 1921. The air of expectancy with which the atmosphere seemed charged throughout the evening added zest to the already overflowing spirits of the dancers. As time passed, this uncertainty became more evident until the wave of restlessness reached its climax. At the mystic hour of midnight, the dancers formed for the grand march. Weird music played by the orchestra added to the excitement. When the throng stood before the black and yellow draped throne erected for the queen, there was absolute silence. A group of twelve Freshmen, clothed in white, advanced two by two, until an aisle was formed. With a burst of music, Miss Grenzfelder entered on the arm of Thomas O'Brien, Chairman of the Prom Committee. Slowly and majestically, the entire length of the Gymnasium was traversed. When the queen had taken her place on the dais, she was presented with a large bouquet of sweet peas and jonquils by Henry Arthur, President of the Junior Class, amid the applause of the admiring spectators.

Miss Grenzfelder's dark, piquant beauty was enhanced by the charming simplicity of her gown which consisted of a bodice of opalescent sequins and a skirt of white georgette with innumerable ruffles. The other candidates were Isabelle Runk, Lina Newman, and Mary Jones.

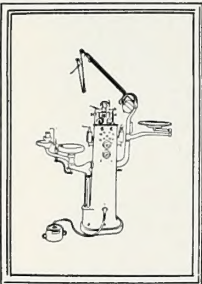

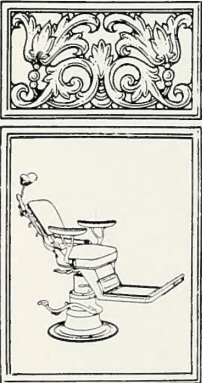

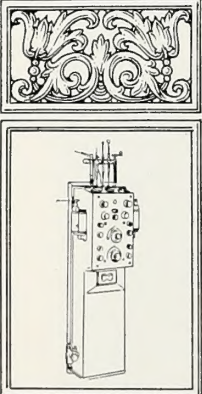

Miss Runk wore a charming model of lavender point d'esprit net with panels of lavender ruffles and streamers caught with yellow organdie flowers on the side. She carried a yellow ostrich fan. Miss Newman wore an orchid satin creation, cleverly draped and trimmed with wide bands of silver lace. Miss Jones was gowned in black panne velvet with a draped skirt and a long sash lined with American Beauty georgette in train effect.

Elaborate decorations completely transformed Francis Gymnasium. At the entrance was a large white canopy where Freshmen collected receipts for class dues, and gave necessary directions. On entering the Gym, a bower of yellow and white greeted the eye. The walls and ceiling were covered with shirred panels of white cloth, interspersed with yellow lattice work and arranged in such a way as to completely hide all athletic apparatus. Jonquils and white sweet peas aided in carrying out the color scheme. Even the elements seemed to have conspired to give ideal weather for this, the largest social function of the year.

Spotlights playing upon the dancers during the course of the evening revealed a scene of varied and unusual beauty. Happy, care-free youth, now enjoying the delights of College, passed dignified and sedate "old grads," who seldom frequent the campus, but whose presence at the Junior Prom forms a link between past and present Washingtonians.

Chaperones of the affair were: Dean Edith Fenton, Doctor and Mrs. Isaac Lippincott, Doctor and Mrs. Paul Rider, Doctor and Mrs. Eugene Tavenner, Doctor and Mrs. T. C. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert E. Walther, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Jackes, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wiggins, and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Petring.

Meet

Twinplex—

The Stropper That Makes The Shave

FELLOWS who add Twinplex to their shaving outfit, quickly discover what a friendly and helpful companion it is. And daily shaves of exquisite comfort cement the first acquaintance into life-long friendship.

For Twinplex is a wonderful little machine that stropps Gillette and Durham Duplex blades, and restores to the delicate edges the keenness lost in shaving.

With mechanical precision the Twinplex Stropper does for the safety blade what the barber's strop did for the old style razor—it strokes the dulled edges back to shaving smoothness.

That is why men, a million and more, like Twinplex. With it, they may retain indefinitely a blade's first keenness. And have not only one shave but dozens and scores of delightfully smooth shaves from a single blade.

If you haven't a Twinplex, you've denied yourself long enough. Get one on the 30 day home trial basis from any cutlery, hardware, drug or department store. You'll never want to return it.

The price for the standard model in a satin-lined case is $5.00. Other sets at $5.50, $6.50 and $7.50 include various shaving accessories. Ten year service guarantee.

Twinplex Stropper

for Gillette and Durham-Duplex Blades

The simplicity of Twinplex is fascinating. You merely slip the blade in place on the carrier—twirl the handle a few times—and you have a new "home" stropped blade of marvelous keenness.

After shaving, wipe the blade, and put it back in the stropper ready for tomorrow's comfort shave. This saves time and protects the blade.

OF

Herb BergerWhy Some Girls Leave Home
or "The Career of Mollie McQuirk"

An adipose creature was Mollie McQuirk,
Who ne'er knew the meaning of back-breaking work;
She'd never seen more than community dances,
And lived on a farm in the middle of Kansas.

With plenty to eat and no fires to poke,
This young girl's idea of life was a joke.
There were no clouds of sable her mind to distress,
She got lots of pin money and such things I guess.

Soon Mollie was turned out to make her own living,
Among other things she was adept at flivving.
Well knew she the latter would not swell her purse,
And so she set out to become a trained nurse

There was a school in St Louis of which she had heard,
She wrote them a letter and they sent her word,
To bring her credentials and from Kansas depart;
To depict Mollie leaving, I've not got the heart.

Out to Kingshighway in a taxi she sped,
Conjuring pictures in her silly young head,
Of the time she'd be dolled up in apron and cap,
And comforting sick ones—the poor little sap.

Upon her arrival she was promptly relieved
Of all personality and then she believed
The things that were told her—some she could see—
By those who admitted they knew more than she.

"You must not do this and you must not do that"
Was told her so often it sure knocked her flat.
And one day I found her all flooded with tears,
She was called down for combing her hair round her ears.

Assigned to ward duty her troubles began,
She got rather chummy with a handsome young man.
But plans were well laid—they sure did surprise her—
It was all on account of the day supervisor.

For this she inherited several demerits,
And was forced to eat nothing but lemons and carrots.
While in the few weeks that we follow Miss Molly,
She lost several several pounds, the result of her folly.

It seems rather strange, I should not tell you this,
But it happened that Molly, in ignorant bliss,
Decided that all folks who suffered with ills
Should be fed up on various kinds of pink pills.

So she gave them before meals and then t.i.d.,
Between meals, behind meals along with the tea,
Both morning and evening till patients rebelled,
And hot water bottles to their abdomens held.

But this did not still her idea of a frolic,
For she started in next with Acid Carbohic;
Applied this strong stuff to a pair of twin sisters
Which covered them over with ten kinds of blisters.

She balled everything up, and what do you think,
She fed blotting paper to a guy that drank ink;
She sure was some boob—I can tell you lots more,
She thought Castor Oil was used on the floor.

And once when a bird was wheeled in to be carved,
You know before operation they're usually starved,
Molly just sympathized, gave him a nip,
From a half-pint flask that she had on her hip.

There were days when I saw her deucedly tired,
And others I know when she nearly got fired.
And once in a quiz when asked about rabies,
She said she thought they were some sort of babies.

As time went on slowly grinding its wheels,
She was late to everything else but her meals.
From the way she ate you could just bet your life,
That she'd even attack custard pie with a knife.

So they nicknamed her "Wop," this Mollie McQuirk, (Somehow or other my rhyme will not work.
And I'll have to start over and try a new verse,
To wind up the details about this punk nurse).

Here goes for another try—The girls called her "Wop,"
Just why, I don't know, but she never would hop
Or be up on her toes—She surely was lazy,
And they say that her KoKo was equally hazy.

Oh Mollie! Oh Mollie! Why didn't you stay
On that farm out in Kansas and rake up the hay?
And marry a farmer who had lots of coin,
Instead of losing your head about that Doc in Des Moines?

But like all other nurses she took to her home a Perfectly honest sheep-skin diploma,
Which she hung on the wall—it was framed up quite neatly;
She'd smile at it, wink at it, talk to it sweetly.

It brought back recollections for dear little Mollie,
Of the days when she slaved because of her folly.
But it knew other things both sacred and dear—
I have told you too much, so I stop right here.

The favorite attraction of all would-be baseball hounds was throwing three for a dime balls at a Freshman perched precariously over a pool of water, so that if the bull's eye were hit, he would be unceremoniously dumped into the water. However, none of the target Freshmen were injured seriously or had any need for an undertaker.

The most wonderful collection of human and animal monstrosities ever before gathered under one single tent was the boast of the side show. Some marvelous sights were to be seen in there and anyone who missed it, lost an opportunity of witnessing one of the greatest curiosity-killers that has ever existed.

Other University organizations also had shows and concessions. Among these were the Pre-Medics, Ternion, "13" (who ran the thirst quencher), and the Vocational Students, who had charge of a candy lottery.

As You Like It

ON MAY 18, 1920, the Woman's Self Government Association of Washington University presented the Shakespearian comedy, "As You Like It," at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park. On Sunday and Monday it rained and everyone was quite worried about the weather for Tuesday, but the elements surprised us pleasantly, for Tuesday finally came with a clear sky in which sailed a genial moon, surrounded by an extra sprinkling of brilliant stars.

All the parts of the play were taken by the women students. Mae Green made a very good-looking "Orlando," and Mignon Rosenthal was quite lovable as "Rosalind." Florence Walters was in her element as the "Melancholy Jacques," and her interpretation of "The Seven Ages" was very praiseworthy. Dorothea Burbach as the lively "Touchstone" and Henrietta Lichtenstein as the stupid and boisterous "Audrey" made a splendid pair. The solos given by Estelle Niemann and Helen Kammerer were very good and the audience seemed to enjoy them very much. A great deal of credit goes to the following who held minor roles and who gave excellent support to the principals: Charlotte Coombe, Edith Lange, Hilda Schroeder, Helen Portner and Adel Unterburger. Doctor McKenzie, assisted by Mrs. McKenzie, and Professor Webster coached the play.

The chorus dancing, coached by Miss Dixon and Miss Stupp, was picturesque and very well done.

As to the financial success of the affair it is sufficient to say that the Woman's Council gave a thousand dollars to Chancellor Hall for the Endowment Fund and the remainder of the proceeds was put into the Treasury of the W. S. G. A.

FOOTBALL, REVIEW

Nobody will admit that Drake possessed as strong an eleven as the Pikers, yet the Bulldogs whipped us the following Saturday on our own field by the score of 14 to 6. Maybe the carburetor was not getting enough gas, or the machine needed oiling, or perhaps it was just an off day. Somehow our boys could not make any headway past the middle of the field except on one occasion when Shanley grabbed the forward pass, as is his custom, and galloped to a touchdown, while on two occasions Drake broke loose with long and accurate forward passes each of which spelled touchdown, and defeat.

Piker Loyalty personified, invaded the Bengal lair the following week, keyed up to make a last ditch fight. The team seemed to feel that a victory and all would be forgotten of the past disastrous season. Never before had a Piker team fought with such grim determination, never before did it receive such support from a loyal band of rooters on a foreign field. The game was a thriller from the tap of the gong until the final whistle blew. The Tigers were completely taken by surprise by the fierceness of the Piker's play. Ollie Kraehe tackled like a fiend, time after time knocking the punt receiver for the well known row of china lilies and causing him to drop the ball in his hunt for self protection. One of these fumbles was picked up by Hafner and we had a touchdown. The Tigers also scored a touchdown in the first half, and the teams battled down the stretch deadlocked. Then Piker fortune smiled and the loyal rooters became raging nuts as Tommy Thompson hoisted the pigskin over the crossbars for three points with only a short time to go. What matters it that the Tigers won in the last minute of play—we outplayed them, outfought them, outrooted them, experienced the thrill of utter joy, and had a heluva time.

The annual Turkey Day fracas, or you might say carcass, produced the usual result, a lovely walloping for St. Louis U. This time those gluttons for punishment from the Grand Avenue institution had to digest an unpalatable 17 to 0 defeat. The usual wonderful, partisan crowd was out to capacity, and as full of pep as if both teams were closing successful seasons. The game itself was more of a pleasant workup for the appetite of the Pikers than anything else. In course of due time Lee Shanley got his mitts upon his favorite forward pass and from then on the Red and Green athletes tried to make it as pleasant as possible for their blue-jerseyed opponents. However, during the course of the game, Henry Griesedieck could not resist making one more touchdown, and Tom Thompson booted over an extra three points for good measure. Thus closed an unsuccessful though not unpleasant season, and once again is can look forward to the brightest prospects ever next fall. The material is excellent, and Coach Rider is not only a thorough student of the game, but a gentleman and a leader calculated to draw the best efforts from every man on the squad.

What Is Research?

SUPPOSE that a stove burns too much coal for the amount of heat that it radiates. The manufacturer hires a man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation to make experiments which will indicate desirable changes in design. The stove selected as the most efficient is the result of research.

Suppose that you want to make a ruby in a factory—not a mere imitation, but a real ruby, indistinguishable by any chemical or physical test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you try to make rubies just as nature did, with the same chemicals and under similar conditions. Your rubies are the result of research—research of a different type from that required to improve the stove.

Suppose, as you melted up your chemicals to produce rubies and experimented with high temperatures, you began to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago when rubies were first crystallized, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. You begin an investigation that leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, and, for that matter, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type—pioneering into the unknown to satisfy an insatiable curiosity.

Research of all three types is conducted in the Laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type of research—pioneering into the unknown—that means most, in the long run, even though it is undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

At the present time, for example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. Some day this X-ray work will enable scientists to answer more definitely than they can now the question: Why is iron magnetic? And then the electrical industry will take a great step forward, and more real progress will be made in five years than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.

Mental and Mechanical Equipment

WHATEVER your preparation for dental practice may be, the accumulation of specialized knowledge represents an asset in mental equipment. It is a valuable asset; more valuable as you have conscientiously applied yourself to the mastery of the science of dentistry.

Having acquired the knowledge and the training with which to work out a successful career, the next consideration is the character of the equipment which will enable you to give the fullest expression to your abilities.

Manifestly, an environment and a mechanical equipment of a standard below your personal standard, will not contribute to your best efforts, neither as an inspiration nor as a material aid.

We urge you therefore to procure the best materials, the best instruments, the best goods of every kind within your capacity to purchase, not that they must be of our manufacture but of the kind we have always endeavored to provide.

Let your mechanical equipment equal your mental equipment in that it is of the highest character possible of attainment.

THE SECOND MILE IN PRINTING

TO DO A THING and do it well is a fine accomplishment—we call it going the first mile  But there is something even finer and that something is building the success of our organization
It is going the second mile

It is to not only give you the best of printing—but to make that printing as simple a task for you as possible  It is placing our organization and years of valuable experience at your right hand  It is giving you the kind of thoughtful, resourceful service you want  It is doing the thing so that it will achieve the purpose for which it is intended

That is the second mile

BASEBALL REVIEW

third by virtue of a hit, Schewe executed a perfect squeeze. The Drake gang treated Monty very roughly in the third inning and ran over three runs before he got back to earth. The final score was 4 to 3.

At Columbia, the Pikers were once again the victims of a shut-out. Plenty of hits were made but it seemed the umpire was an adept at picking men off the bases with the result that nobody saw third base. Lyon had the Tigers eating out of his mitt, but a hit combined with a wild throwing orgy in the seventh gave the enemy two runs and the ball game. It was a tough one to lose. Al, though clouted hard, turned the tables in the second game with a 4 to 3 count. The perfect execution of the double squeeze brought in the winning tallies, Zoeller dropping an impossible bunt while Conzelman and Marquard dented the rubber. This conflict wound up the Conference season with the Pikers victors in nine out of twelve struggles.

With the city championship at stake, Concordia was beaten in twelve innings in what was easily the most exciting combat of the season on the home lot. Frankie drove in a run in the fourth with a safe crack, and two frames later "Conz" gave the pellet a ride out of the park. Three hits netted the preachers one in the seventh, and in the ninth inning with two out, a torrid homer tied the count. It looked bad for our side in the eleventh with none out and men on first and third, but Lyon struck out the next batter, and on the next play, Shanley scenting the squeeze, dashed in time to pick the ball off the grass and a toss to third completed a double killing. It was a neat piece of work on Lee's part, and saved the bacon. Tommy Thompson lead off the third overtime stanza with a single, worked his way around to third and scored the winning marker when Al laid down a bunt for the squeeze.

The team loses the services of Captain Zoeller, Marquard, Conzelman, and McKim for next season. Their places will be hard to fill, but with fine material coming up, it looks like the Pikers should cop their second championship in 1921.

A Name That Carries Prestige

The prestige of The National Bank of Commerce in Saint Louis arises from past achievement and present power.

This bank, founded in 1857 as The Saint Louis Building and Savings Association, became, in 1870, The Bank of Commerce, and, in 1889, The National Bank of Commerce. Thus, for sixty-four years, it has been a bulwark of finance in Saint Louis; and, for the past thirty-two years, has borne its present corporate title.

Today, with seven distinct departments and with total resources of more than eighty million dollars, it stands as one of the largest and most progressive institutions in the West.

There is a distinct benefit to any person or concern in maintaining an account with a bank thus widely and favorably known. The name of The National Bank of Commerce on your check, wherever that check may circulate, will carry prestige.

L'Envoi

OW as we close the work intrusted to our care, we would add some lines for those who read and those who are to follow after. It is our fondest hope that we have given something worthy and have caught from out the present and imprisoned upon the printed and pictured page, a part at least, of the noble ideals, high aspirations and human feelings of our loved Alma Mater.
